Questionnaire for the Applicant

1) How would you introduce yourself? (State your aims, expectations from life, hobbies, likes and dislikes, any philosophy you believe in)

I am thrilled to introduce myself as a school student applying to college, with a passion for extra-curricular activities that have shaped my character and provided me with invaluable life experiences. My name is Kirtivardhan, and I am excited to embark on the next phase of my educational journey.

Throughout my high school years, I have actively sought opportunities to engage in a wide range of extra-curricular activities along with academics, as I firmly believe that they are vital for personal growth and development. These activities have not only allowed me to explore my interests and talents but have also helped me cultivate essential skills such as leadership, teamwork, and time management.

One of my most significant involvements has been in the field of theatre and public speaking. I have dedicated countless hours to honing my skills in this area, participating in competitions, attending school workshops, and collaborating with like-minded individuals. This commitment has not only deepened my passion for dramatics but has also taught me the value of perseverance and discipline. Beyond my primary focus, I have also actively participated in various other extra-curricular activities, such as cricket, swimming, and videography.

These experiences have allowed me to develop a well-rounded skill set, including effective communication, problem-solving, and adaptability. Moreover, they have taught me the importance of balancing my academic responsibilities with my passions outside the classroom. While my commitment to extra-curricular activities has been a significant part of my high school experience, I have also maintained a reasonable academic record. I have consistently challenged myself by taking advanced courses and have strived for excellence in my studies.

This balance between academic rigor and extra-curricular involvement has taught me how to manage my time efficiently and set achievable goals. As I begin the college application process, I am particularly interested in the IB course at Singhanian. I am drawn to your institution's reputation for fostering a vibrant campus community that values both academic achievements and extra-curricular involvement. I believe that it will provide me with the perfect platform to continue pursuing my passions while furthering my education.

In conclusion, I am a dedicated and well-rounded student who is enthusiastic about the prospect of attending college and continuing my journey of personal growth. My involvement in extra-curricular activities has not only shaped my character but has also given me valuable experiences that I am eager to bring to Singhanian. Thank you for considering my application.

2) Why did you choose to do an IBDP?

Holistic Education: The IBDP offers a well-rounded education that emphasizes the development of critical thinking, research skills, and a global perspective. It focuses on fostering intellectual curiosity and encourages students to explore a wide range of subjects.

Rigorous and Challenging Curriculum: The IBDP is known for its challenging curriculum, which prepares students for higher education. It requires students to study diverse subjects across different disciplines, including languages, sciences, mathematics, humanities, and the arts.

Global Recognition: The IBDP is recognized and respected by universities worldwide. Many universities consider it a rigorous and well-rounded educational program, and this will aid me in my dream of continuing my under-graduate education abroad.

Development of Skills: The IBDP focuses on developing a range of skills, such as critical thinking, research, communication, and time management. These skills are valuable not only for success in higher education but also for future careers.

International Perspective: The IBDP promotes an international outlook and encourages students to embrace diverse perspectives and cultures. It fosters intercultural understanding and prepares students to be global citizens in an increasingly interconnected world.

Personal Growth: The IBDP challenges students to step out of their comfort zones, explore new subjects, and take on independent research projects. It encourages self-reflection, adaptability, and resilience, which contribute to personal growth and development.

3) Have you any special achievements in the field of sports/ cultural activities/ community service etc?

Won awards in school for dramatics, elocution, videography having participated in several inter-school competition.

4) Mention a person or an incident that has impacted your thoughts, actions and personality. Explain how you have been influenced.

One person who has had a profound impact on my thoughts, actions, and personality is my high school English teacher, Ms. Vaishali. Her passion for literature and dedication to her students inspired me in ways I never expected. Ms. Vaishali's enthusiasm for literature was contagious. She introduced us to a wide range of literary works, from classic novels to contemporary poetry, and sparked engaging discussions that challenged our perspectives. Through her guidance, I developed a deep appreciation for literature and its ability to connect people across time and cultures. Beyond the classroom, she encouraged us to think critically and express ourselves confidently. She created a supportive environment where we felt comfortable sharing our thoughts and opinions. This nurtured my ability to articulate my ideas effectively and strengthened my self-confidence.

Her passion for literature, encouragement, and emphasis on empathy have shaped my love for learning, my confidence in expressing myself, and my commitment to creating a positive impact in the world. I am grateful for her influence and the lasting impact she has had on my life.

5) The fears and challenges that you need to overcome.

Fear of Failure: Many people fear failure and the potential negative consequences it may bring.

Overcoming this fear involves embracing the mindset that failure is a part of the learning process and an opportunity for growth. It requires developing resilience, learning from mistakes, and maintaining a positive outlook.

Fear of Rejection: The fear of rejection can prevent individuals from taking risks, pursuing opportunities, or expressing themselves authentically. Overcoming this fear involves building self-confidence, recognizing that rejection is not a reflection of personal worth, and understanding that rejection is a natural part of life.

Fear of Change: Change can be intimidating and uncomfortable for many individuals. Overcoming this fear involves embracing a growth mindset and recognizing that change often leads to new opportunities and personal growth.
